

Link Technologies Honored on Inc. 500|5000 for Third Year

LAS VEGAS, August 29, 2013 – Inc. magazine recently listed Link Technologies on its annual Inc. 500|5000, a ranking of fastest-growing private companies in the nation. This is Link Technologies' third straight year on the list which, according to Inc. Editor Eric Schurenberg, is harder to get on than ever.

Joining past honorees Intuit, Zappos, Microsoft, and Oracle, Link Technologies has seen massive growth (69% in just the last three years) by focusing on IT, cyber security, engineering, telecom, and project management. The increasing relevance of cyber-based services – and increasing tenacity of those who exploit them – has created an amplified need for the security and tech expertise Link brings to the table.

Many organizations have taken advantage of Link's professional services, which supplement their teams, operations, and projects with technical knowledge and subject matter expertise. By working with Link, clients are improving their operations, strengthening their security position, and seamlessly adopting new technologies to optimize their enterprises.

Still, despite Link's strategic positioning and heavy tech focus, CEO Debbie Banko says the human factor remains their biggest driver of growth.

"Our success here is a function of great clients and great people," Banko said. "Without the right people, and the right relationships, we wouldn't grow like we have."
